The exercises of Mrs. J. R. Cochran's school closed on Tuesday, and the occasion was celebrated by the children with a pound party, to which their parents and a large number of triends were invited. One of our visitors to Cincinnati express the opinion that it would be a good investment for the County of Anderson to send at least three hundred of our farmers each year to the Northwest, at the County's expense, just for the purpose of letting their on their farm work. There is no doubt that the more knowledge our Southern farmers acquire of the way in which Northern and Western farmers manage their affairs the

Rev. T. P. Bell, the newly elected pastor of the Baptist Church, arrived in Anderson on last Saturday, and preached his first sermon on Sunday morning to a large congregation. Mr. Bell is a young man, unmarried, has just recently graduated in the Southern Baptist Theological Feminary, and is a very promising young minister. He meets with a warm reception not only by the members of his own church, but by the people of the whole town generally, and will doubtless receive that cordial and earn-est support in the work of his pastorate that has always been given his predecessor.

There was an excursion of colored people from Nowberry to Greenville on last Saturday, and from the reports we have heard the behavior of the excursionists was simply outrageous. As the train passed through this County they were shooting and cursing to the annoyance of persons living along the Read, and we learn were fighting among themselves, several being badly bruised and cut up. It was at first reported that one or two had been killed, The stockholders of the Anderson Fair but this was incorrect. Our club failed to find any bats in Greenville, and were about to find none in Anderson, when a member of the H. S. Club proposed to send them two of their best bets, with no other charge than their first cost. This was very kind, and will not be forgotten by the Williamston boys, who know how to appreciate such generosity. After they have sufficiently practiced, I hope the two clubs will have a friendly test for the championanip. The boys there have an excellent ground, presented them by Maj. Geo. W. It will be observed that the cotton crop, after deducting cost of fertilizers, amounts to about the same in money value as all other crops. The viols cost of fertilizers, including hauling from and to depot, will increase said amount to about 3-10 of the whole market value of said crop, or nearly me-third. This is a very large rent out of the cotton crop, to be paid usually out of the first and best cotton prepared for mar-ket. Can this leak be stopped? We think so. How? Let every farmer during the winter months compost and manipulate his own fertilizers on the farm, using only so much commercial fertilizers (or lime, which would be better) as may be nece for composting purposes, then this large per centage of every cotton crop will be saved to fill the pockets of the farmer. In addition, let the cereals and forage crops receive the first consideration, not neglecting, by any reasons, the garden, potato and truck patches generally, superadding so much cotton only as can be well manured and well cultivated. Then will prosperity again dawn upon our depressed farming industries.

It is but just to the farming industries of Brushy Creek township to remark that '79 was one of the dryest years experienced since '45, hence the smallness of the crop. Indeed, under this adverse condition, the amount of the grain crops, especially corn, is surprisingly large. Taking the number of farm enumerated the average of the corn crop is over 100 busicle to the farm. and but little less than 100 bushels to the finity on era .. 00 a Market

It is gratifying to observe the general favorable report in regard to the dairy products of the farm. The never-failing milch cow, where she as been allowed a living chance, has come to the relief of the nunerous households of Brushy Creek township by freely giving from her lacteal re-sources those rich supplies of milk and butter, which are so necessary to the comfort and abstenance of every family. It may be that the enumerator was particularly for enate, but he never sat down to the table of any household where the milk and butter did not maintain a conspicuous position, and in some cases the heautiful, rich, golden color of the nicely-prepared butter would have, we think, entitled it to a piace alongside of the Northern creameries or olecmargarine. Of course, this was not the happy lot of all, but there is no go A reason why it may not be. The pre-paration of clover and grass lot with rye or barley for a winter pasture, will enable the poorest to revel in the luxuries of milk and butter. So mote it be. Under the operation of the stock law the Under the operation of the stock law the number of sicciding gradually being reduced to be supplied by a better quality.
